

the trouble was over, he would be given a good position.
Captain Kidwell thinks that Wilcox will move into Pauoa Valley. If he does so, it is more than probable that he and his men will be either killed or captured during the day.

CRUISE OF THE KE AU HOU.

The People of Maui and Hawaii Ignorant of the Trouble.

The Inter-Island steamer Ke Au Hou returned to port last night about 6 o'clock from a cruise to Maui and Hawaii. Landings were made only at Mahukona and Maialaea. Everything was found to be quiet at these places. No one knew of any trouble going on in Honolulu. Captain Freeman, who was in charge, reported the sugar mills grinding without any interruption. Some surprise was expressed over the non-arrival of any of the island fleet, but no information was forthcoming regarding their delay and the cause of the cruise of the Ke Au Hou.

Hon. H. P. Baldwin was the only passenger aboard the Ke Au Hou, he having gone as representative of the Government. The following is the report made by Mr. Baldwin to the Government regarding the cruise:

"I left this port at 9:20 a. m. Tuesday, January 8th. Arrived at Maialaea at 8:25 p. m. of the same day. We found freight on the wharf and some people to meet the Kinau, and some carriages coming over the hill for the same purpose. I landed with Captain Freeman, who instructed the crew to stay in the boat and say nothing. Captain Freeman also stayed in the boat. After a little conversation with Mr. Conway, who has charge of the wharf, I was satisfied that they knew nothing of what was going on in Honolulu, and that everything was quiet on Maui. We left in a few minutes and started for Mahukona; arriving there at 12:05 a. m. of the 9th. Captain Freeman and I again went ashore; the captain staying in the boat with the crew. I went up and round up the acting superintendent of the landing, the regular about news from Honolulu. We got off to sea again shortly and skirted along down the windward side of Maui. In going up on the lee and coming down the windward side of Maui, I saw all the plantations on the island. They were all grinding except possibly Olowalu, and work was apparently going on as usual. We arrived in Honolulu at 6 p. m. Wednesday. We did not see any vessels on the trip, excepting a schooner anchored at Kaunakakai, said to be taking on wood."

A SCARE INCIDENT.

Shots Out on King Street Caused Some Excitement.

Last night about 8 o'clock shots were heard out Lele way. This caused widespread excitement. Word reached police headquarters that an armed force of the enemy was entering the city by King street bridge. As soon as this was received preparations were commenced to protect the police station and give the rebel invaders a warm reception. There was a large force at police headquarters and these acted quickly. The windows of the Marshal's office on the Waikiki side were closed and barricaded. Those on the Ewa side were thrown open and four men armed with rifles, stationed in each. The main entrance was filled with men and an additional number of rifles placed within reach. The same preparations were made at the door of the receiving office, and a squad of police was drawn up in front of the station. It took but a few minutes to accomplish the work. Couriers were despatched to the locality of the firing, and until their return things looked somewhat warlike about police headquarters. Investigation proved that a Chinese hackman had attempted to cross Smith's bridge after being ordered to stop, and a shot was fired upwards to bring him to a halt, by one of the guards stationed at that point.

The report of the shot and news of the invading party caused the wildest sort of excitement along lower King street and up Nuuanu as far as Hotel. The Chinese shops and restaurants hurriedly closed their doors, and for a few moments a panic was threatened. Along Hotel street up to Fort there was a general stampede of excited individuals, few if any of them being armed. A number of ladies who happened to be in that portion of the city at the time rushed frantically toward No. 2 engine house. The true cause of the trouble quickly spread, and in a short time quiet was restored.

Looking for Carl Widemann.

Deputy Marshal Brown went up to Judge Widemann's place at Punahou yesterday afternoon to arrest Carl Widemann, but failed to find that young man at home. He was informed that Carl had been absent from home since last Thursday. The premises were searched, but the much-wanted individual could not be found. The Government received information that young Widemann left Wilcox's command on Sunday last and has not been seen or heard of since. He is supposed to be either killed or with Sam Nowlein's crowd or in hiding.

Murray Heard From.

A courier from "Tim" Murray's camp arrived last evening for provisions and reinforcements. Some additional men were sent early this morning. Murray's party is camped at the Palolo ridge. Nothing was seen of the rebels yesterday.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

Some additions to the suspect list will likely be made today.

Alfred Carter and his men were near Koko Head yesterday.

A native carpenter named Pua is one of Wilcox's lieutenants.

It seems that every rebel is supplied with a poi flag as a part of his outfit.

Henry Poor's house, on Emma street, was searched yesterday afternoon.

W. H. Daniels, who was formerly a judge at Wailuku, was arrested yesterday.

Captain Kidwell's sharpshooters will probably be sent to Pauoa Valley this morning.

There are over 160 prisoners confined at the Oahu prison, as a result of the rebellion.

A number of cartridge belts found on rebels are supposed to have been made in Honolulu.

It was reported yesterday afternoon that Fred Harrison had been released. Such is not the case.

Proprietor Krouse, of the Arlington Hotel, is busy these days supplying food for the military.

A detachment of Company F was sent to Manoa Valley last night to relieve the sharpshooters.

It is understood that Liliuokalani is under constant surveillance of the police, though not under arrest.

When the Alameda is docked today guards will be placed on her and no one will be allowed to go on board.

It was reported yesterday that D. W. Corbett was shot at Manoa. He denied the story in person last night.

Business was partially resumed yesterday. Several of the retail stores were open, also the post office and banks.

Charles Bartow, who surrendered yesterday, is a son of the auctioneer of early days. He was in the 1899 rebellion.

Samuel Parker complained yesterday because some guards would not allow him to enter Judge Widemann's residence.

Company B voted Miss Perry many thanks yesterday for a supply of coffee. The young lady is a sister of Judge Perry.

J. L. Osmer, the ex-turnkey, who was supposed to be a deserter, is said to be at Manoa acting as an orderly for Dr. Howard.

Dr. Weyson, of Company B, was brought to town yesterday. Overwork prostrated him. He will go to the front again today.

Additional soldiers were sent up Nuuanu Valley last night to cut off Wilcox's flight if he should attempt to escape that way.

Company B men are a little sore because they have not been sent to the front. A detail was sent to Tantalus yesterday afternoon.

The register at the Police Station shows six prisoners of war brought in today, with Alex. Pauhan and David Analui arrested for conspiracy.

Joaquin Miller went to the front last evening and was enthusiastic over the bravery of Company A men.

"For hungry men they fought like tigers."

Wilcox's men are getting hungry. Yesterday's prisoners state that all they have had since Sunday was a few baked bananas. They missed their poi sadly.

A report came yesterday afternoon, to the effect that fighting was going on in the vicinity of Judge Hartwell's residence. The story did not amount to anything.

Captain Frank McStocker, with thirty-five Citizens' Guard, went up Nuuanu Valley after 10 o'clock last night to prevent Wilcox's command crossing to Koolau.

The captured natives all have the same story as to the cause of their following Wilcox. They say Wilcox threatened to shoot them unless his cause was supported.

A rebel was shot and killed last night by some of Lieutenant King's men while skirmishing in Mount Tantalus. It is supposed that he belonged to Wilcox's party.

The sharpshooters objected to being placed on patrol duty preferring to go to the front. Their desire has been granted and most of Captain Kidwell's men are now hunting rebels.

There is some talk of a royalist league with a large membership having been formed in Honolulu some time ago. Many of the royalists now under arrest are said to belong to the body.

When the Sharpshooters returned to their headquarters in the Central Union Church last night they found a very appetizing cold lunch awaiting them. They thank the thoughtful donors.

Cecil Brown returned from Makapuu Point at 11 o'clock last night. He captured three natives while away. They were placed in Kaneohe jail, and will be brought into town this morning.

The body of the native who was killed at Manoa Valley yesterday was taken to a house on the road. It was carried on Major Potter's horse. It will be interred today by men detailed for the purpose.

Lewis J. Levey, the auctioneer, was taken from his store yesterday afternoon by Captain Scott. When he reached the Station he kicked very hard but his objections did not save him from being locked up.

John Radin, "Nick" Peterson, Jas. Brown and Manuel Reis were arrested yesterday. They are all drivers at the most surprised men in town yesterday when they were apprehended.

While Joseph Marsden was blazing away at the rebels in Manoa Valley yesterday, some men belonging to Company A fired at him, mistaking him for one of the enemy. Fortunately the sharpshooter escaped uninjured.

Captain Thompson, of the bark S. C. Allen, made up his mind to sail yesterday, but was prevented from doing so by the presence of two armed guards on board of his vessel. He lodged a protest with United States Consul Mills.

George Beckley went out to his Waikiki residence yesterday. He reports the place somewhat dilapidated, evidently having been raided and occupied by the revolutionists. The house shows signs of having been fired into on several sides. His Japanese servant who was shot in the leg while in the house, and afterwards sent to the hospital, is improving.

Seven Prisoners Taken.

Earnest Renken was sent out on a mission yesterday, and returned last night with four prisoners in charge. He found them with three others, in the vicinity of Makapu Point. They could not give a satisfactory explanation of their movements and were taken in charge. Three were left at Kaneohe. A cartridge was found on one of the men when he was searched at the police station.

No Hanging Today.

It was generally reported about town yesterday that the military authorities had decided to hang Captain Davies and James Lane, the man who is said to be the murderer of Charles L. Carter. It was learned last night that the report was not true.

JOHN M. VIVAS, Esq., has this day been appointed an Agent to take Acknowledgments to Labor Contracts for the District of Kona, Island of Oahu.
